A NEW WAY TO FATTEN A TUKKEY .-Gath's letter to the Chicago Tribune says: One of the most agreeable entertainments of an epicurean kind which is given at Washington is that of Dr. Niman Pinckney; who stands second on the list of medical directors, and is the pephew of William Pinckney and brother of Bishop Pinckney. Dr. Pinckney's quarters are at the Washington pavy-yard, and he is celebrated for feeding turkeys on English walnuts-administered whole, shell and all, without cracking. A few weeks ago I had the pleasure of attending a dinner given by this hospitable epicurus. A turkey reposed in the centre of the table, of remarkable size, and of flavor not equalled by the most delicate capon. Before we put the knife into this dish for Dives, another turkey was brought up to the door, and the process of feeding him was achieved. Fourteen full large walnuts; whole, were put in the wonderful fowl's bill, and slipped down the gullet by the fingers outside. As the first walnut went down, the turkey looked up with one eye, in a baffled sort of a way, as if wondering whether he was assisting at a comedy or going to execution. At the third walnut he turned up both his eyes, as if now assured that it was not the intention to kill him by starvation. At the fifth walnut, his inquisitiveness was unbounded, and he wore the look of a man who had been reading a thrilling story, and had suddenly bumped up upon the words, "To be continued in our next." Continued it was; and, after the seventh walnut, Sir Turkey gave up the conundrum, closed his eyes resignedly; and when the fourteenth walnut, had slipped down his gullet, and they were all rattled by the hand, so as to produce from the bird's interior a sound as of a macadamizing job going on there, his expression was plainly to be read: "Gentlemen, you know what this is for, and I presume that your consideration for myself will cuable me to reflect upon the performance

It takes about three weeks to fatten a turkey in this way, for the animal, unlike the mills of the gods, grinds exceedingly small, but very fast. He undergoes considerable digestive wakefulness, but the secretions come to his rescue; the shells are melted down, and the walnuts are assimilated, so that he matures in a fractional part of the life he bas been destined to. It seems that this trick has been discovered on the way around Cape Horn, on a certain naval vessel which contained a great many turkeys, and nothing for them to eat. A humorous officer said that sooner than see his turkeys starve he would feed them on the table dessert. A few of the animals died, but the majority survived and proved to be palatable beyond all previous experience. I mention this matter for the edification of your gourmands in the west, who want to know what a turkey is capable of. Senator Anthony was delighted both with the docility and the delicacy of the respective birds of freedom which had been brought before us. The experiments made with turkeys are said to demonstrate the fact that fourteen walnuts is the limit which a bird can stand, and that less than eight will not produce the flavor attainable.

with the eye of faith."

THE VIENNA EXPOSITION. -The Vienna correspondent of the New York Tribune, whose initials indicate identity with Mr. Bayard Taylor, thus writes of the burning shame which mantles every American face that is to be seen in the Austrian metropolis:

"The root of the evil lies behind the "irregularities? of this or that Commissioner. may say that the chief guilt has been fixed upon one who is not an American by birth-in fact, a native of Vienna; but what system is that which sends here, to represent us before the congregated world, thirteen Executive Commissioners, only two or three of whose names have ever been heard by the people of the United States, five of whom are of foreign birth, and two of the latter Viennese? Some of the suspended Commissioners I know to be. men of character and honor, who are deeply humiliated by their position. It is the system of rewarding party services by office—of putting any man into any place-which they must accuse. I will say nothing of the absurdity of Honorary Commissioners, and anywhere from 3 to 20 commissioners from each State, for very few of them have any specified duties, and none of them are recognized by the Austrian officials. Those who come with purpose and intelligence will quietly accomplish their work, while the ignorant and the swaggerers among them, are stripped of all authority. The Executive Commission, however, should have been composed, of known of known and honored individuals, men fitted by previous study or experience for their places, men qualified to meet their fellow commissioners from other lands on an equal ground of Eric rings and the Credit Mobilier exposure. have already sufficiently damaged our nationals persons wishing to see Dr. FAWCETT, Dentance abroad. HOT SAND BATHS.—A therapeutist of Lon-don thinks he has discovered an infalliable dure for rheumatism, the administration of hot sand baths. He claims that the advantage of this mode of treatment consists especially in the fact that it does not supress perspiration like the hot water bath, but rather increases it, and another advantage it possesses is, that it does not interfere with the the respiration of the patient; as does the steam bath or Turkish bath. It is asserted that the body can endure the influence of such a bath for a much longer time. and a much higher temperature can also be applied. It can be used for infants, and permits of easy application to a part or to the whole body.
